STIC
Supporting Teams In Change

Welcome to STIC – Supporting Teams In Change!

- The Russian market –
a riddle wrapped up in an enigma?
- The Russian soul –
deep and incomprehensible?
- The Russian bureaucracy –
escalating out of control and diffuse?

We will help you to gain safety and illuminative insights as well as save up time.

The team of STIC specializes in providing consulting services to companies that do business in CIS-countries. Our focused country is Russia. The economic crisis is putting many companies' involvement in Russia to the hard test. Executives are being challenged more and more, staff have to assume more responsibility.

How are you experiencing this situation? Are your intercultural teams optimally prepared for these anxious times? How well does the communication between your German head office and your Russian subsidiary function? We do not offer a universal remedy but plenty of ideas and a tool case filled to the rim – in order that your involvement in Russia has got future.

We will give you competent advice.
Call us up.

Who do we benefit?

Our team is requested by

- specialists and executives (including their families) who leave for Russia, Belarus, Kazakhstan, Ukraine
- team leaders and project leaders who directly support their teams in these countries
- Personal Development Managers who plan further qualifications and trainings for their regional staff

What are your advantages?

If you work as a manager in Russia, you are

- more rapidly orientated in Russian daily routine and work culture
- safer in your handling through well-founded background knowledge and better understanding of your own as well as foreign cultural expectations, norms and rules
- more persuasive in communication with your Russian business partners, teams and customers

If you are a Personal Development Manager, you will get

- culturally adapted and didactically sensible concepts which originate from our 25-year experience as trainers and mediators between the cultures. Thus, you can avoid misunderstandings and misinvestments
- competent trainers who work multilingually and are in action as interpreters, facilitators and event managers at the same time. Thus, you can spare your own valuable resources and use them elsewhere

- informative and interesting trainings which qualify and motivate both managers and staff. Thus, you bond your regional staff more with your parent company and reduce your personnel costs

Why us?

- We do not impart stereotyped knowledge but develop together with you possible sophisticated courses of action which are suitable for your context
- We are culture experts with sense and sensitivity because we want to strengthen the trustful cooperation between our countries
- We ourselves used to live and work in other European countries for at least 5 years
- We define ourselves as “bicultural” because we feel at home in the particular culture, we speak the language perfectly and understand their values
- We steadily collect new precious experience in practical on-site projects dealing with consulting and training of participants from different countries and different lines of business.
